Programs for Professionals

At NESE, we understand that professionals want to be taught by professionals. Consequently, our teachers hold degrees from Harvard, Yale, Columbia, or other top universities and have extensive teaching experience. Our curriculum, designed by graduates of The Harvard Graduate School of Education, is periodically reviewed by our Board of Advisors, ensuring that the quality of our programs is always maintained at a very high level.

Flexible Schedule

Whether in business, science, law, or education, NESE recognizes that professionals have very specific needs. As a result, NESE provides a choice of schedules to best suit a professional's goals:

- To follow our regular Intensive or Semi-Intensive Program
- To take NESE's specialized courses such as Business English, Legal English, Pronunciation, and TOEFL® Preparation
- To arrange private instruction
- To arrange special group lessons
- To take any combination of the above

Classes with Other Professionals

When a professional first arrives at NESE, he is given a placement test, and although he is placed into the academic level that provides him with the fastest learning possible, NESE realizes that this division is not enough. Therefore, all classes at NESE are also subdivided according to age. This means that a professional has classmates who are in positions similar to his: professionals who want to study in a serious environment that caters to their specific needs. Following their placement tests, professionals participate in a special orientation to NESE and to Boston. This orientation is offered to NESE's professional students only.

Professionals Only Computer Lab, Lounge, & Activities

NESE has a special executive area within our building. This area includes a private lounge for all professionals currently studying at NESE to meet and discuss topics relevant to their fields of expertise. It also includes a private computer lab with unlimited free access to e-mail. Wireless access is also available for professionals who wish to use their laptops.

After class, NESE offers professionals many activities and trips to areas of interest. Our "Professionals Only" Club is one of the most popular activities. This club was designed to provide professionals with additional opportunities to meet classmates who share their interests, attend meetings, and visit companies in Boston. Through this club, professionals also often attend lectures at Harvard as well as social events in Boston.

Recognition by Harvard Law School's International Tax Program

The International Tax Program at Harvard University's Law School has implemented a policy for their incoming international students. The Harvard program has become a model for education programs in taxation around the world. In order to be accepted into this Harvard program, students are required to have a 580 TOEFL[®] score. An exception to this requirement is made by attendance at a top English language program. NESE has been recognized as such a school by Harvard Law School, and is pleased to have Harvard students among its student body.

Small Private Professionals Only Dormitory

Lee Hall is NESE's closest dormitory and is reserved for professionals only. Each room is fully equipped with a telephone, a microwave, a fridge, a TV and a VCR. In addition, each room has its own private bathroom. Each student is also provided with a bed, dresser, desk, and linens. The housekeeping staff clean the room and bath regularly, and breakfast and dinner are served seven days per week. Lee Hall is spacious and comfortable and has a dining hall, a student lounge, and an out-door patio. Further, Lee Hall is located in a quiet, residential neighborhood, with tree-lined streets and beautiful homes, which is part of the Cambridge historic district. Finally, Lee Hall is only a 12-minute walk from NESE, and is also easily accessible by public transportation.

Special Membership at Harvard Square Wellbridge Athletic Club

Although all students at NESE, including NESE's professionals, can join the MIT (Massachusetts of Technology) Fitness Center, NESE professional students have an additional option of joining the Wellbridge Athletic Club. Wellbridge is adjacent to the Harvard JFK School of Government and just a three-minute walk from NESE. Wellbridge facilities include a swimming pool, strength training equipment, free weights, and an exercise class studio as well as a whirlpool, steam room, massage therapy, and personal training. Please note that although there is a fee to join Wellbridge, NESE professional students are offered a special discount.
